*North Carolina Big Sweep is an award-winning 501(c)(3) nonprofit whose mission is litter-free environment. Founded in 1987 by Dr. Lundie Spence of NC State University's Sea Grant College Program, Big Sweep is best known for its annual cleanup. Last year, almost 16,000 Big Sweep volunteers retrieved 460,000 pounds of debris in North Carolina. This annual statewide cleanup is important because litter is not only ugly but it also hurts our economy, contaminates our water supply, attracts disease-carrying mosquitoes and rodents, and is harmful to wildlife.
